SAVING LIVES AFTER DISASTERS

Marlene and her daughter Neika lost their home in the earthquake in Haiti. Marlene also lost her business and her source of income. Now living in an overcrowded camp in Port-au-Prince, access to clean and safe water is essential, so that diseases don't spread. Thanks to SCIAF, their camp has a water bladder, and Marlene and Neika don't have to worry about drinking dirty water, or having to find the money to buy clean water.
